WHY HEMP?

Hemp has significant anti-inflammatory, healing, antibacterial and antiviral effects. It proves itself particularly well in the treatment of so-called civilization diseases and diseases associated with old age. Hemp seeds and oil are one of the best sources of essential fatty acids. In addition to rare gamma-linolenic acid, they also contain Omega 3-6-9 unsaturated fatty acids in a perfect ratio of 3:1. Hemp contains all eight essential fatty acids that the human body cannot produce, until with exceptions, they create themselves and must be received from food or by absorption.

CBD & CBG

Connection of science with nature

CBD = Cannabidiol – has a positive effect especially on pain, relaxation and anti-inflammation of the muscles, joints, and limbs' nerves through the peripheral nervous system. It can also be effective in treating eczema and psoriasis. CBG = Cannabigerol – widely researched for example for analgesic, anti-inflammatory, or anti-bacterial effects. It has a calming effect and helps reduce painful and inflammatory conditions of the skin.
